

PRIVACY & CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY & PROCEDURES

Preamble

Kyabra respects that information shared by service users/employees belongs to those service users/employees. We aim to uphold the highest standards of service users'/employees' rights to confidentiality and privacy by abiding by the Australian Privacy Principles, the relevant national and state legislation, and our funding body requirements.

Policy

Kyabra shall collect only such personal information from service users as is necessary to provide the service offered to or sought by them.

Service users/employees shall be given full disclosure of what information is to be held and how it may be used. The service user/employee will be offered the right to inspect any information held and to correct inaccuracies.

Information will be securely stored and accessed only by those employees whose job makes it necessary for them to do so. No information will be shared with a third party without the service users'/employees' permission, except where issues of personal risk or public safety make it legally or ethically mandatory that we do so. However, records may be used in statistical analyses so long as individuals cannot be identified.

Private records shall be destroyed or de-identified when not further required, except where legal requirements or public safety considerations make it necessary or prudent for us to retain them for longer.

Kyabra shall put in place procedures to ensure the privacy, safety and security of service users' /employees' information and to ensure that service users and employees are aware of their rights and responsibilities with regard to privacy matters.

This policy applies to anyone who engages with Kyabra services whether via Kyabra's website, email, phone or in person.

Procedures

Ratified by Executive Board: May 2002
Re-Ratified by Executive Board November 2016
Next review date: November 2018

Collection

Potential service users will be made aware of Kyabra's confidentiality and access to information practices during initial visit (or initial phone call). Where possible, this information is to be given to service users verbally and in writing. All employees, and where possible, service users are to sign a Rights and Confidentiality form, which will then be kept on that individual's file.

During collection of information, it is important to explain why the information is being collected and to whom the information will be disclosed.

Use and Disclosure

Any information collected from service users will only be used for the purpose of providing the service offered to, or sought by, them.

Anonymity

An individual can contact Kyabra on an anonymous basis or using a pseudonym however it may impact Kyabra's ability to provide information, supports and services to that individual.

Overseas Use or Disclosure

Generally, Kyabra will only transfer personal information overseas where the individual expressly consents to such transfer. However, given the amount of electronic contact information collected by Kyabra (and Lighthouse Resources) and that many software vendors and service providers are outside of Australian boundaries, information may be transferred outside of Australia in the course of managing that information. Before transferring any information outside of Australia, Kyabra will take reasonable steps to ensure that:

- The information belongs to people over the age of 18 years;
- Any service provider who will be handling the information will be contractually bound to comply with the Privacy Act 1988 and Information Privacy Act 2009; and
- The country to which the information is to be transferred has a system of Privacy protection at least equal to the Australian system and incorporates a means of taking action for any breaches of Privacy.

Countries to which information may currently be transferred for the purposes of management of personal information include:

- United States of America.

Data Quality

Ratified by Executive Board: May 2002

Re-Ratified by Executive Board November 2016

Next review date: November 2018

Kyabra workers will take all reasonable steps to ensure that information collected about an individual is accurate, complete and up-to-date at the time of collection and use.

Data Storage and Security

Kyabra will take all reasonable steps to ensure that data is kept safe from misuse, loss and/or unauthorised access. This includes:

- Using secure filing cabinets for hard copies and password-protected files for electronic data.
- Using appropriate firewalls and network protection software
- Only permitting authorised personnel to access personal and sensitive information.
- Ensuring personal and sensitive information is destroyed in a secure manner.
- Regular back-up systems are in place to save data from being lost

Information that is no longer required will be destroyed or de-identified, except where legal requirements make it necessary for it to be retained for a longer period. Personnel records, incident and investigation reports, liability insurance policies and other relevant incident related correspondence shall be retained for a period of 50 years.

Database Access

Information pertaining to service users will, in most cases, be stored on Kyabra's Service Record System. This electronic database contains private and confidential information and only authorised staff* will be granted permission to access the database. Each user of the database is given a unique user name and password. All access to the database is logged and is subject to regular audits.

*(Staff roles that have permission to access the database are listed below under 'Access and Correction')

Openness

Kyabra's Privacy and Confidentiality Policy will be given to service users at the commencement of service and will be made available at any time, on request.

Access and Correction

Service users and employees are able to access and check the information which is held by Kyabra as per the Access to Information Policy and Procedures.

Ratified by Executive Board: May 2002

Re-Ratified by Executive Board November 2016
